

ANIMAL BILL OF SALE

This Animal bill of sale can be used to transfer ownership of most of animals from one party to another. You can print the form and fill-in-the blanks or use document editing software to type in the require information.

An animal bill of sale does not normally need to be notarized but it might be a good idea if you don't personally know the other party. The second page is optional and should be given to the notary if the form is being notarized.

Be sure to give the original copy of the bill of sale to the Buyer and keep a copy for yourself. If you don't have a copier nearby, simply complete two documents and give one to the Buyer.

You can customize this document using Microsoft Word or a PDF editor, depending on which version you're working with. In particular you might want to change the word "animal" to the specific type of animal you're selling.
